Kanagawa Prefecture

1 Club Wyndham Sundance Resort Hakone-Gora

1300-13 Gora, Hakone, Ashigarashimo-gun,
Kanagawa 250-0408, Japan

The resort is located in Hakone's Gora Onsen district, blending Western architecture with Japanese elegance. Just a two-minute walk from Hakone Gora Park known for its French-style gardens, guests staying at the resort enjoy public onsens with renowned hot springs, mountain views, and on-site facilities like a games room and restaurant.

2 Club Wyndham Sundance Resort Hakone-Miyagino

6-6 Miyagino, Hakone, Ashigarashimo-gun,
Kanagawa 250-0401, Japan

The resort immerses guests in Hakone's stunning mountain landscapes, south of Tokyo, near Mount Fuji and Lake Ashi. This serene retreat features spacious Japanese-Western style rooms, complete with tea facilities, microwaves, and forest views — no elevators, shoes off in some units. On-site public onsens offer therapeutic hot springs, alongside a restaurant, BBQ area, tennis court, and kids' games room.

3 Hakone Open-Air Museum

1121 Ninotaira, Hakone-machi, Ashigarashimo-gun,
Kanagawa Prefecture 250-0493, Japan

It is Japan's first outdoor art museum opened in 1969, spans 70,000 square meters, showcasing around 120 modern sculptures by artists like Rodin, Henry Moore, and Picasso amid lush greenery and mountain views. Highlights include the Picasso Pavilion with over 300 works, stained-glass installations, indoor galleries, cafes, and a foot bath. Easily accessible via Hakone Tozan Railway from Chokoku-no-Mori Station (2-minute walk).

4 Owakudani Valley

250-0631 Sengokuhara, Hakone-machi,
Ashigarashimo-gun, Kanagawa Prefecture

Known as "Great Boiling Valley," it is an active volcanic crater in Hakone, formed by an eruption about 3,000 years ago. Steaming sulfur vents, hot springs, and bubbling pools create a dramatic, otherworldly landscape with a strong egg-like smell from hydrogen sulfide. Visitors ride the Hakone Ropeway for stunning aerial views, often spotting Mount Fuji on clear days. Try the famous kuro-tamago (black eggs) boiled in geothermal waters—eating one adds seven years to your life, per legend.

Kanagawa Prefecture

5 Hakone Shrine (Lake Ashi)

80-1 Motohakone, Hakone-machi, Ashigarashimo-gun, Kanagawa, Japan

Founded in 757 during the Nara Period, the shrine stands majestically on Lake Ashi's shores, enveloped by ancient cedars. Revered by warriors like Minamoto Yoritomo and Tokugawa Ieyasu for protection and victory, it honors deities for safe travels along the historic Tokaido Road. Iconic features include the vibrant red "Peace Gate" torii rising from the water and the Gongen-zukuri main hall.

6 Sengokuhara Pampas Grass Field

Sengokuhara, Hakone-machi, Ashigarashimo-gun, Kanagawa Prefecture 250-0631, Japan

The field transforms into a silvery sea from late September to early November, when tall susuki grass sways in the wind across 180,000 square metres on Mount Hakone's slopes. Recognised among Kanagawa's top 50 scenic spots and 100 flower sites, the wide trail allows immersive walks amid golden autumn hues, offering Fuji views on clear days. Spring features controlled burns for regrowth, preserving this historic grassland once used for thatching roofs.

7 Pola Museum of Art

1285 Kozukayama, Sengokuhara, Hakone-machi, Ashigarashimo-gun, Kanagawa 250-0631

The museum opened in 2002 within Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park, showcases over 9,500 works amassed by Pola cosmetics founder Tsuneshi Suzuki. Highlights include Impressionist masterpieces by Monet, Renoir, and Cézanne, plus Picasso, Van Gogh, and contemporary pieces in galleries blending seamlessly with surrounding forests via underground architecture and natural light.

8 Gora Park

1300-457 Gora, Hakone-machi, Ashigarashimo-gun, Kanagawa Prefecture 250-0408

Opened in 1914 as Japan's first French-style landscape garden, the park sprawls across a hillside near Gora Station, offering panoramic Hakone mountain views. Features include a vibrant rose garden with over 1,000 bushes, tropical greenhouses showcasing exotic plants and insects, manicured lawns, fountains, and seasonal blooms like cherry blossoms, azaleas, and hydrangeas. Hands-on workshops in glassblowing, pottery, and tea ceremonies add interactive fun, while cafes provide relaxation spots.
