

PLAN YOUR JOURNEY TO

Shizuoka Prefecture

Shizuoka Prefecture is where Japan's most iconic view comes to life, with Mount Fuji rising above tea-covered hills and the Pacific coastline. You can sip freshly harvested green tea with Fuji in the distance, wander along seaside towns, or unwind in onsen facing the ocean.

4 Atami Sun Beach

Higashikaigancho, Atami City,
Shizuoka Prefecture 413-0012, Japan

A vibrant urban beach in Atami City, featuring 400 metres of soft white sand lined with palm trees, evoking a tropical paradise. Popular for summer swimming (mid-July to end of August), it transforms into Japan's first "Moonlight Beach" with magical nighttime illuminations from sunset to 10pm, ideal for fireworks festivals and romantic strolls. Free entry, showers, and nearby parking make it family-friendly near Atami Station (12-15 minute walk).

5 Atami Castle

1186-8 Kinjokancho, Atami City,
Shizuoka Prefecture 413-0002, Japan

A modern replica built in 1959 atop Nishikigaura Mountain in Atami City, the castle mimics Momoyama-period architecture despite no historical predecessor. This five-story concrete tower serves as a panoramic observatory 160 metres above sea level, offering stunning 360-degree views of Sagami Bay, Atami coastline, and distant landmarks like Tokyo Skytree on clear days. Inside, museums showcase Edo-period artifacts, samurai armor, swords, and erotic ukiyo-e prints, with cherry blossoms blooming in spring gardens.

6 Kinomiya Shrine

263-1 Hayashizakicho, Atami City,
Shizuoka Prefecture 413-0016, Japan

The shrine dates to around 710 AD, founded when a fisherman caught a divine wooden statue in his nets, leading to its establishment under a sacred camphor tree. Renowned for its 2,000-year-old camphor tree – a National Natural Monument with a 23.9-meter trunk circumference – believed to grant longevity (one circumambulation adds a year to life). This power spot enshrines gods of fortune, health, and nature, drawing pilgrims via forested paths.

Shizuoka Prefecture

7 Izu Shaboten Zoo

927-3 Futo, Ito City, Shizuoka Prefecture 413-0231, Japan

The zoo uniquely combines a botanical garden with a zoo, showcasing over 1,500 cactus and succulent varieties from Mexico, Madagascar, and beyond in massive greenhouses. Home to 140 animal species including free-roaming squirrel monkeys, peacocks, kangaroos, and famous capybaras enjoying winter onsens, it offers interactive experiences like animal boat tours, llama zipline feeding, red panda treats, and cactus-hunting workshops.

8 Shiraito Falls

Kamiide, Fujinomiya City, Shizuoka Prefecture 418-0103, Japan

This natural wonder captivates as one of Japan's most beautiful waterfalls. This 150-metre-wide, 20-metre-high cascade resembles delicate white silk threads tumbling from a lava cliff, fed by pristine Fuji snowmelt in Fuji-Hakone-Izu National Park – a UNESCO World Heritage site and Natural Monument since 1936. Year-round scenic walks, bridges, and Mt. Fuji views draw visitors, with peak flow in spring and summer.

9 Asagiri Plateau

Nebara, Fujinomiya City, Shizuoka Prefecture (general plateau area), Japan

A vast 10,000-hectare highland at Mount Fuji's southwest base in Fujinomiya City, it enchants with misty mornings, lush pastures, and dairy farms producing fresh milk and cheese. At 800-900 metres elevation, it offers stunning Fuji vistas, ranches for animal interactions, camping at Lake Tanukiko, hiking, zip lines, and cycling amid ranches like Fuji Milk Land.
